An overall single rating is given for a location; however, the medical landscape can vary widely. Mitigating factors, including but not limited to: infectious disease burden, environmental factors, susceptibility to natural disasters are also considered as well as violent and petty crime. Other factors, such (including sectarian, communal and ethnic violence) political violence or civil unrest is uncommon. If terrorism is a threat, groups have limited operational capability. Rates of violent crime are very low. There is no significant risk of political violence or civil unrest. Government control and law and order may be weak in certain areas such as rural and remote locations on behalf of clients. Government control and law and order may be weak in certain areas such as rural and remote locations on behalf of clients. If tourism is a threat, groups have limited operational capability. Rates of violent crime are very low.